BRITISH AGGRESSIONS.

Debate on the second resolution reported b a select committee, as given in our last.

Mr. Worthington. On further consi deration of the resolution now before the senate I confess I feel more opposed to it. and do b-lieve, on the whole, it will be best not to pass it in its present form. The resolution must mean something, or it must mean nothing. It must intend to convey to the president, the opinions and advice of this body, or not to convey it. Now, sir, if it is intended to convey to the president the opinions and advice of the senate which is certainly my understand. ing of i. I beg gentlemen to reflect alittle be-I to they stopt it. The advice of this senate I were be given to the president and the desired effect, and let me and, sir, that from the intimate connection which exists between this and the executive branch of the government, I must believe that the president would not feel himself justified, nor would he be willing to take so much responsibility on himself as entirely to reject it. Sir, I could not justify him if he did. We are equally responsible with him in our executive capacity, and can we for a moment believe that he would act contrary to the decided opinion of the senate, who can at all times control or defeat him by rejecting a treaty made contrary to their advice and onininas? What, sir, is the object of the resolution?

Resolved, That the President of the U. States be requested to demand and insist upon the restoration of the property of our citizens captured and condemned on the pretext of its being employed in a trade with enemies of Great Britain, prohibited in time of peace; and upon the indemnification of such American citizens, for their losses and damages sustained by these captures and condemnations : and to enter into such arrangements with the British government, on this and all other differences subsisting between the two nations, (and particularly respecting the impressment of American seamen,) as may be consisten with the honor and interests of the United States, and manifest their earnest desire to obtain for themselves & their citizens by a. micable negociation, that justice to which thes are entitled We request the President " to demand and insist upon the restoration of the properry of their citizens, captured and condemund on the pretext of its being employ. ed in a trade with the enemies of Great Bri ain prohibited in time of peace; and upon the imdemnification of such Ameriean citizens, for their losses and damages sustained by these captures & condemnati. ors:' & afterwards " to enter into such arrangements with the British government, on this & all other differences subsisting be. tween the two nations, (& particularly respecung the impressment of American seamen.) as may be consistent with the honor and interests of the United States, and manifest their earnest desire to obtain for themselves and their citizens by amicable negociation, that justice to which they are entitled." To my mind, sir, the resolution seems to be at war with itself. It is not, Mr. President, the bold ground taken by the fir t part of the resolution to which I object. It is not, sir, that I am opposed to demanding or insisting on our rights; but it is because I fear the resolution taken together will embarrass the executive in ne. gociaring a treaty to settle our differences. A gentleman from Maryland has told us, and we know the fact is so, that there are several subjects on which negociation is necessary. At present we know we have no commercial treaty with G. Britain. If, sir, this subject is intended to be embrac ed (and so I understand it) by the resolution, and if it is the opinion of the senate it should, let us be more explicit. We have such a treaty with Holland, Spain and France, and I confess I see no good reason why we should not have one with G. Britain if it can be made on terms which will promote the mutual interests of the two nations. Indeed, I cannot imagine how we are to get along without continual jarrings, and probably ultimately war, with all its concomitant evils, unless we know the ground on which we are placed .-Whilst I should deplore an event of this kind, yet, if under all the circumstances, the honor and interests of my country robbing us of our property, as we will be made it necessary, I hope I shall be found I to acknowledge that we have paid so much among those who would firmly resent the insults and vindicate the injuries of any nation on earth. With so wide a field for negociation, with so many important ob. jects to accomplish, I submit it to the good sense of the senate, whether it will be proper to tie up the hands of the executive in the manner comtemplated by the resolution. If the resolution passes, the President must in every event " demand and insist upon the restoration of the property of our citizens, captured and condemned on the pretext of its being employed in a trade with the enemies of Great Britain, prohibited in time of peace; and upon the indemnification of such American citizens, for their losses and damages sustained by these captures and condemnations:" This must be made the basis on which all further proceedings are to be founded. I do not wish to be understood as being willing to give up the property which has been unjustly taken from our citizens without an equivalent. An equivalent may be obtained in many ways. If the resolution is adhered to by the executive a restitution of the property must be insisted on. Request the president to demand and insist, and he must take this ground, and this only, if we pass this resolution: Although in my opinion this reclution was not intended to censure the executive, yet it would seem to bear that construction. But on this ground I will not object to it. It is notorious to every gentleman of the senate that the president has been, and is now, prosecuting a negociation on the subjects which seem to be the particular objects of this resolution, viz. the condemnation of our vessels and the impressment of American seamen. It would therefore seem improper on this ground to pass the resolution in its present form. I know, sir, that what has been so often and so properly repeated is all important on the present subject, that is, that we should be united it what we do. With this view and with the hope that the same committee can offer to the senate a resolution varied in its form from the one before us, and embracing the wishes of at least a great majority, and I hope the whole senate, I move that the resolution be recommitted.

Mr. Adair. Mr. President-the motion before the senate is to recommit the resolution to a special committee. Gentlemen in favor of the resolution as it stands, have called upon us to point out the alterations we wish to make in it as a cause of commitment; I will do so by stating my objections to it in its present shape. The first resolution on the paper which I hold in my hand, and which met with a unanimous vote of the senate two days past, contains a mere declaration of their opinion on an abstract principle; to this resolution I fully and freely assent, although I did not vote for it, being that day unwell and absent. But this second resolution, if it is to have any effect at all, is meant to convev an instruction to the president of the United States. It contains a request to him, not only, that he will endeaver to obtain an adjustment of our differences by treaty, but that prior to this he will " demand and insist upon the restoration of the property of our citizens captured and condemned on the pretence of its being employed in a trade with the enemies of Great Britain, prohibited in time of peace; and upon the indemnification of such American citizens for their losses and damages sustained by these captures and condemnations ;" that he will enter into arrangements, &c. This, Mr. President, is the part of the resolution I object to. It is going too far. It is circumscribing the powers of the President, and tying him down to a particular point. It is making that the sine qua non, the basis on which alone he is to treat; at least it is doing this so far as an opinion of the senate, expressed in this way, can do it. It really looks to me, as if on this particular point of restitution we were afraid to trust our chief magistrate. presume there is not a member who hears me, who does nor fully believe the captures ond condemnations alluded to in the resolution were unjust, that they are an infringement of our rights; and that we are entitled to restitution. But let it be remembered that these condemnations are the solemn decisions of a court of very high authority in Great Britain. A court that, it is well known, acts under the councils (if not the controul) of the cabinet; may we not then reasonably suppose that the British government are as fully assured (in their own minds) that these condemnations are just and warranted, under the law of nations, as we are that they are unjust and unwarranted; and that they will be as unwilling to acknowledge in the face of the whole world that they have been wantonly without a cause. It has been well observed by an honorable member from Tennessee, that in forming commercial treaties of this kind, there will be various points to consider; and it may not be necessary to contend for strict justice in every punctilio; arrangements or treaties, when there are existing differences to settle, must always be a bargain of compromise and forbearance; in one point we may give a little that we may obtain an equivalent in another. So it may turn out in settling our disputes with Great Britain. Why then are we not sa. tished with expressing our opinion on the great principle of right; and leave it salto- and the latter the 15th of January, into and point out the details. It is afferted by the advocates of the resolution as it now stands, that the part objected to, has been virtually-agreed to in the first resolution;

ing as an instruction to or restriction on the Pref. dent. To this I answer that the same principle, so far as it relates to the United States, or to the British government, is certainly contained in the first resolution, and therefore unnecessary to be thus expressed in the second; and if it is not in. tended to operate as an inflruction to the prefident why is it fo anxiously retained in the resolution .I can fee no reason for this unless it is intend. ed as a declaration of the senate a folemn pledge to be used on some future occasion, by the mer. chants, whose property has been thus connemned, to shew that we are bound to obtain restriction for them from the British government, or to com, and to surround our right. It was evident penface them outselves flow far this may be they meditated an attack on the 11th. The right is not now for me to fav. It is a subject emperor, as usual with him, prevented not now before the ferate, and I think it 100 this by himself commencing the attack at soon to make the declaration. Nor do I like the break of day. The battle lasted from to see fuch a measure obtain in our resolutions seven o'clock in the morning to five in the by flealth as it were; unnoticed because of fored by the brighter blaze of more important objects. In support of the words " com no and infit;" an extract has been read from a terter of the pre, fident himself to his minister abroad, in which he ufes the fame words. Bur is there no difference between the prelident's acting reflicially, giving instructions to his minister where it is necessary and proper he should enter into the details; and our merely expressing an abstract opinion upon a great principle before it officially comes before body of the guards, as well horse as foot, us. The president in using these words does it to the amount of 5000 men, were entirely with the strictest propriety; and I trest when he cut to pieces. Almost all the Russian ge inftructs a miniter agreeably to the request con- nerals have fallen into our hands. The ta ned in this refolution, that he wil make use of. language equally firong. He shall meet with my hearty approbation, nor is there any length in my power that I will not cheefully go to fup. port him. Yet fill I am unwilling to tie bim down to a particular point, or to express an opinion in detail upon the subject of a treaty, which if made must be finally laid before the senate for their approbation. Let it be remembered that in the fift refolution we have folemoly pledged ourselves to a principle of right; we are so far bound as the representatives of the nation to de. fend this right to our citizens; or to obtain an equivalent. This ought to fatisfy all. In this fecond resolution we request of the President to obtain for us the free exercise of this right by treaty. Let us then confide to him the broad field of negociation; let us not eramp him. Our rights are secure in the hands of the constituted authorities; ih uid be fail of foccess, we all know the confequence; the mext and last alter native is war; to this we all ftand folemnly pledged, and when it comes to this, I trust there will be no difference of opinion. Peace is the first wish of our hearts; it is the foul of our government. But the man who would not prefer war to copreffice, to difhonor and infamy is not an American One word more, Mr. Prefid nt; and I have done-it has been conceded that a umanimity of tentiment and vote is defirable on this subject. It then gentlemen are in earnest when they fay those exceptionable words, mean no more than what is contained in the first refoleton; and convey no special infruction to the Pefident, can they not change them for others equally firong as to the principle and that wil meet the approbation of all; why not firite them rout in lieu of them request the President to enter into arrangements agreeable to or in conformity to the first resolution; some fuch alteration as this would certainly retain the whole idea avowed by the advocates of the present resolution, and as the special direction and reftriction would be left out, it would meet with my co curr nee -To obtain some such alteration in words that the remains of the Russian and Austria will be agreeable to all is the object I have in army. voting for the commitment, and as one day car. not materially affect us, I hope we will be in. dulged.

The motion to commit the reso otion was lost by a finall majority. [To be continued.]

Ther were drawn out in array before us to the number of 80,000 men, of which 15,000 were Austrians. On the 10th they made a motion in their left wing to attack us. evening. The Russian army was entirely destroyed; 25,000 prisoners taken; 15,00 killed and 120 pieces of cannon taken pos session of. The guards of the Russian emperor were attacked by those of the emperor Napoleon: They were entirely discomfited; the colonel and one third of their officers taken, the standard bearer, all their artillery, and in fine the whole emperors of Russia and Austria had the greatest difficulty to save themselves across the marshes. A considerable quantity of men, stopped by the marshes and a late into which they threw themselves, were drowned, experiencing the same fate a the Turks who threw themselves into sea, at the battle of Aboukir. Our troops are now pursuing the small remains of this army once so arrogant. For further details, your aid de camp will relate to you what he has seen and heard. PROCLAMATION.

IT IS hereby made known, that the Commissioners for superintending the elec. tion of sixteen persons as members of the Common Council of Alexandria for the ensuing year, have by their several returns declared the following gentlemen duly elected, to wit:

FIRST WARD. Thomas Preston, Aeron Hewes, Daniel M. Clean, Walliam Harper. SECOND WARD. Henry Rose. Hugh Smith. James M Guire. Cuthbert Powell.

THIRD WARD. Jonathan Swift, Phineas Janney, William Rhodes, John M Kinney. FOURTH WARD. Edmund Denny, James H. Hooe, Times Russell, John Cohagen.

In testimony whereof, I have here unto set my hand, this 5th day of March, 1806.

JONAH THOMPSON, Mayor of Alexandria.

Battle off Cape Trafalgar.

The Victory, Lord Nelson's ship, so closely engaged the Redoubtable, that her guns could not run out, but were fired into that ship while her sides were rubbing againt the Victory; and the troops on board the Redoubtable fired into the Vic. tory's port holes. The above French ship had four hundred troops on board, and those in tops took aim at the officers on the quarter deck of his lordship's ship, which accounts for so many being killed or wounded. Of the forty marines placed on her poop, only five remained unhurt. Captain Adair, of the marines, was killed while loading a musket, which he had re. peatedly fired. He had behaved in the bravest manner. The Three subaltern officers, and the serjeant major also used muskets on that day. Two of the subalterns were wounded .- London Papers.

We are informed, that letters are re. ceived in town, mentioning, that an unfortunate occurrence lately took place on board of an American frigate in the Mediterranean. A captain of marines is said to have been run through the body with a sword and killed, by an officer of high rank in the navy, for having remonstrated to his superior on the impropriety of his ordering one of the marines to be flogged. [N. Y. Gaz.]

Without examining the principles which Great Britain contends for, in respect to our intercourse with the colonies of her e nemics, and the exportation of colonial ratify this treaty, and Great Britain thould reproduce; the fact on which those princi- | fule the ratification on her part; we must then ples are bottomed, are not as she asserts. Great Britain says that we are now engaged in a commerce with her enemies, which was not permitted to us in time of peace let us examine into this fact. In all the year 1802, and for a part of the year 1803, Great Britain was at peace. Then let us examine the state of our commerce for the first of those years, and the result will prove that the United States must have carried on an extensive trade with the French, Spanish and Dutch colonies.

In the year 1802, the amount of duties and drawbacks on sundry articles of colo. nial produce, demonstrate the error of the assertion, that we are now contending for a commerce which we did not enjoy in time of peace.

Amount of duties on coffee in 1802, 1,682,439 -drawback. 1,285,376 -duties on cocoa, 29.429 -drawback, 28,096 -duties on brown sugar, 1,821,117 -drawback, 718 338 - duties on clayed sugars, 196,581 -drawback. 152 026

The amounts above mentioned are taken rom the official document published in our

It will be admitted that in the year 1804, that the imports and exports of colonial produce were considerably augmented, but certainly it would be too absurd to say, that an increase of thirty per cent, is to affect the rinbi.

The United States contend that in the time of the peace they held an exclusive colonial trade, with the powers now at war with Great Britain, that the surplus beyond their own consumption was freely export. ed, and that now because Great Britain is at war with those powers, they will not be deprived of that trade. This is certainly m eting G Britain upon her own ground. We have always thought, and still think, that upon more deliberate reflection, Great Britain must recede from a position, which is tenable in neither fact nor principle.

(Norfolk Ledger.)

From the Washington Federalist. MR. RIND.

FROM the great variety of resolutions which have been proposed to congress, in relation to our disputes with Great Britain, and which lie now for consideration on the clerk's table of the house of representatives, it would seem that our public servants, with all their love for the people, and zeal for the public good, are pretty much at a loss what course to pur-

The following hints for consideration solicit the public eve through the channel of your paper. STRICT NEUTRALI. TY AND EQUAL JUSTICE TO LL NATIONS IS THE POLICY OF THE UNITED STATES. Whether this, in the modern acceptation of the terms, means an equal submission to degradations and insults from all nations, I do not now enquire. But, whatever it means it must equally apply to all nations. To apply this rule we have only to examine the line of conduct we have pursued with other nations, to ascertain the proper course to be taken with regard to our disputes with Britain. Take Spain for example. Admitting your statement concerning a closed door appi opriation for the purchase of the Floridas to be correct, and I dont find that Sammy Smith has contradicted it. In the first place, Spain committed depredations on our commerce, our minister made a treaty with Spain on that and other subjects, which among other articles, had one something to this purpose. That these spoilations might be the subject of luture discussions. This article was so favorable to the United States, the government ratified it-but Spain refuses a ratification on her part. In addition to the ordinary resident minister at the court of Spain, a minister extraordinary is then sent. Our ministers submit several propositions for an amicable adjustment of difficulties, all of which Spain rejects, and refuses to submit any propositions of her own as a basis of negociation. Our Ambassadors close their negociation with their fingers in their mouths. As a next step an appropriation is made of -Millions of Dollars; as a first instalment towards the expence of bribing France to bully Spain into a negociation for the cession of the Floridas to the United States. Apply this process to our disputes with Britain, & the path is plain. Mr. Munroe is now at London. He can commence a negociation, and agree to a treaty, in which this, among other things, may be flipulated. That the depredations on our commerce, and impressment of our feame, may be subjects of suture negociation nd discussion. Supposing the U. States should fend a Plenipotentiary Extraor inary to act in soncert with the relident miniter. They can make a vatiety of propositions to the British government, as a basis of settlement; to all of which Britain may refuse to accede, and decline submitting any propositions of her own. Con. gress can then appropriate - millions of dol-lars as a first payment towards the expence of ob. taining the liberty of the feas, and redeeming our impressed seamen. Before the process proceeds thus far, perhaps Great Britain may be as completely under the power of Bonaparte as Spain is at prefent. We can then pay the mo. ney into French coffers as a reward for her bullying Great Britain into our measures. Should this plan meet the approbation of our Legisla. tors in Congress, it might prevent some very lengthy and very truitles discussions on the refo lutions now before them, and would be assuming an attitude of precifely equal dignity and inde. pendence in our transactions with different Eu. ropean nations.

ANECDOTE.

When the Earl of Wharton, who made so e. minent a figure in the reign of Queen Anne, was a ftripling during the life of his tarher, who was a most tormal Presbyterian, there being an ex. t hordinary entertainment for fome young gentry on the anniversary of his hopeful four's birth, he was ordered by the old Lirt to fay grace; whereupon curning up his eyes and affuming a poritanical countenance, he breathed the following

" I pray God to shorten the days of Lord Whar. ton and fet his fon up in his place; " He'li drink and he'll w-, and ten thousand things more,

"With as good a fanatical lace,"

The pious parent being deat, and not hearing what the lad faid, but per eiving he had finished; very innocently gave his affent to it, by an amen, pray God. Which to his great furprise made the whole company burft into a laughter.

From LUTHER MARTIN, Efq. Attorney-General of the flate of Maryland.

I comply with your request in stating my opinion of. Hamilton's Elixir. It has been used in my family for two or three years past, with uniform faccels, whenever colds, coughs, or fimilar complaints have rendered me-dicine necessary. I have myself found it an excellent and agreeable remedy for a very painful and croubleforse affection of the break, accompanied with forenels and with obstructed and difficult breathing.

On these accounts I do not hefitate to recommend Hamilton's Elixir, as a valuable medicine, and deferving public attention.

LUTHER MARTIN. Mr. Abijah Henry, Bridge-street, Baltimore, was cured by one bottle of Hamilton's elixir of a very complicated diforder, occasioned by a severe cold caught several months ago. He breathed with the greatest difficulty, and was often thrown into weakening fwests when he attempted to walk any distance, and his voice would frequently fail in fuch a degree that he could only attempt to whitper: he has been upwards of fix weeks without a return of his complaints and defires to give this public testimony in favor of this invaluable

GENTLEMEN,

I purchased at your shop the preparations you call Hamilton's Effence, or Extract of Muftard, which I believe has perfectly removed a chronic rheumatifm (of that kind named friatics, or of the hip joint) under which I had labored for a long time, and which had buffled every article in the Materia Medica, and every mode of treatment received into profice for the cureof this obisinate difease. If you think this letter uleful you are it liberty to make it public. Yours, &cc.

WORM DESTROYING LOZENGES, (Selected from thousands) the authenticity of which any person may ascertain either by letter or personal application.

TAPE WORM. Mr. SAMUEL FULLER, Inn keeper, on the Harford road, ten miles from Baltimore, began about twenty months ago to be grievously afflicted with a tape worm, which increased fast in fize and strength, so as to excite the most horrid fensations by his writhing motions and intolerable pains, resembling the gnawing and tearing of his bowels, which deprived him of his necessary sleep, and caused such dreadful apprehensions as cannot be conceived but by one in a fimilar fituation-his aspetite wasted rapidly, and with that his strength, so that he was unable to attend to any bufiness-when he heard of some excellent cures performed by Hamilton's worm lozenges, he took a large dofe, which brought away about FOUR YARDS of the worm (now in the pofeffion of Lee, & co.) but a renewa! of his pains foon convinced him that this monstrous reptile had recovered its first vigor-Application was made to Lee & Co. for more of their medicine, with their advice, from which resulted the total expulsion of his formidable enemy, in several pieces, which he supposed to be SIX or EIGHT YARDS more. A tew months have fince elapfed, and Mr. Fuller is now in perfect health. The above facts are well known to a numerous circle of his neighbors, and himself will gratify any who may wish to make further inquiries on the subject. Although Hamilton's worm lozenges produce such powerful effects, when necessary, yet they are perfectly innocent and mild in their operation on the human body, even taken in large doses, as Mr. Fuller will testify—their particular mildness is abundantly evident in innumerable cures of inmidifier of the Moravian church, in York town. York, January 4th, 1802.

Communicated by Dr. John Spangler, York town, Pennfylvania. Letter from the reverend Mr. JOHN MOLTHER

DEAR SIR, Dr. Hamilton's lozenges have been recommended to me as a very adequate means for the cure of children afflicted with worms, I procured a box for the use of my family, to try whether by means of this medicine I might be enabled to gain a point, which, to accom-plish, different other means had proved abortive. My eldelt boy had a very fickly appearance, was very resttefs at night, grew leaner from time to time; in fhort, he seemed to be in a precarious state of health, which would yield to none of the medicines administered, until I gave him two dofes of lozenges, agreeably to the directions, which carried off a fubfiance to all appearance a mere mucus but upon close inspection quite repeled with very small living animals. Not one of that fort of worms which usually affect children came from him. Since that period he grew remarkably better ny health, and though lean, has got a fresh and lively complexion. Upon different occasions, I have used this medicine as a purging substitute, and found it to answer exceedingly well, without bringing on belly ache, or any other difagreeable fentations, to often occasioned by purging medicines. Upon the which I judge this medicine to be, befides its main object, one of the most falutary means for restoring lost appetite, and promoting a proper state of digestion, by carrying off that bilious substance, which engenders so much indisposition both among children and adults. I am, Sir, your most obedient fervant,

JOHN MOLTHER.
